Telephone Warnings Of Bombs More Threats By Jewish Radio

AMBASSADOR RECALLED

Athens, Aug. 21.
The Yugoslav Government has recalled its Ambassador in Athens, M. Isidore Tchanganar. The reason for this move is not given in dispatches so far reaching London, but it follows the hostile references by the Yugoslav delegate to the Paris Conference during the recent discussion of the Greek claims.—Reuter.

Yugoslav Reply To U.S. Protest

Washington, Aug. 21.
The United States has demanded that Yugoslavia respect the rights of the "innocent passage" over Yugoslav territory of United States aircraft lost through weather conditions.

This follows the alleged shooting down of two United States planes near the Italian-Yugoslav frontier, according to a summary of the note delivered by the American Ambassador in Belgrade to the Yugoslav Government.

The Acting Secretary of State, Mr. Dean Acheson, made the disclosure at a press conference today. The text of the note sent by the Yugoslav Government to the United States Government protesting against the flight of American aircraft over Yugoslav territory was issued to-night.

The note says: "The Yugoslav Government protests most strongly against the constant and systematic flights of American military planes over Yugoslav territory and it asks the United States Government to take without delay strict measures to ensure that such violations of Yugoslav sovereignty shall cease."

It asserts: "These flights which have assumed a systematic character are continually disturbing and violating Yugoslav sovereignty. Between July 16 and Aug. 8, 172 planes flew over Yugoslavia without permission. On Aug. 9 a C47 flew over Ljubljana aerodrome at about 10,000 feet. It did not respond to the international calls signifying to it to land from our fighters but flew in the direction of the frontier. After vigorous intervention by our fighters the American plane was forced down. It had eight military personnel and two civilians aboard. A detailed inquiry has been ordered into the incident."—Reuter.

Govt. Probe Into Salaries, Etc.

His Excellency the Governor has appointed a Committee with the following terms of reference:—

To review the present staffing and investigate the duties performed by the officers of each department of the Hong Kong Government with a view to making recommendations regarding: (a) The extent to which it may be practicable, without impairing efficiency, to reduce as early as possible the number of temporary employees and particularly of temporary employees who are supernumerary to the 1941 establishment.

(b) Any retrenchment that may be possible in the near future in the personnel of the permanent establishment.

To make recommendations regarding readjustments in the rates of the temporary high cost of living and rehabilitation allowances at present payable to any class or grade of employee in the Government Services whose present salaries and allowances are found to be inadequate to meet the cost of living appropriate to that class or grade.

The membership of the Committee is as follows:—Hon. Mr. T. Megarry (Chairman), Mr. E. Y. Frost, Mr. M. W. Lo, Mr. A. J. C. Taylor and Mr. R. J. Minniss (Secretary).

Athens, Aug. 21.
A seven-man sub-committee of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations arrived in Athens today to begin a tour of the Balkans to study reconstruction problems. After a three-day stay in the Greek capital, where they will see Cabinet ministers, the members of the sub-committee, headed by M. Pierre Piquelin of France, will leave for Belgrade.—Reuter.

Jerusalem, Aug. 21.
The Palestine "war of nerves" continued today amid the barbed wire defences of Jerusalem as telephone warnings of bombs again sent staffs scurrying from public buildings, while the Haganah, Jewish resistance organisation, distributed leaflets in Tel Aviv, declaring that the British authorities intended to make new searches amid a countrywide curfew.

The leaflets called on all Jews to resist interrogation and if property was damaged, to "strike with force against force." They were sent around Tel Aviv by "bicycle patrols."

LaGuardia And D.P.s.

Berlin, Aug. 21.
Mr. Fiorello LaGuardia, Director-General of UNRRA, announced here to-night that he would leave for the Washington Repatriation Division of UNRRA, is to succeed General Sir Frederick Morgan temporarily as chief of UNRRA operations in Germany.

Mr. LaGuardia will announce a permanent appointment to the post after his return to the United States in consultation with the representative of the United Nations.

He told a press conference that General Morgan had not made good his charges that Russian criminal elements used UNRRA as an "umbrella" for their operations in Germany and that he was still awaiting some clue to investigate Morgan's charges.

General Morgan's release, however, was a result of a re-organisation of the UNRRA displaced persons work in Germany and was not to be considered as a reflection on the general.

He said that he hoped for the repatriation of 450,000 displaced persons. "Unrepatriables" would be resettled under a new plan. He had received assurances from other countries that if the United States took 100,000 "unrepatriables" they would take their share and so solve the displaced persons problem.

"My country," he added, "has shed more tears and passed more resolutions about the displaced persons than any other country but to date my country has not taken many in."

Mr. LaGuardia concluded: "I am sure that if the United States starts Canada, Australia and New Zealand will also accept their share."—Reuter.

Twice to-day the staff and visitors of the General Post Office of Jerusalem were hurriedly evacuated following calls that the building was mined. Although the "warnings" have become a daily occurrence the authorities took no chances and the second phone call sent the police probing round the building for 50 minutes before deciding that there was no danger.

The Jewish resistance movement's clandestine radio "Voice of Israel" asserted that the death sentences passed last Friday on 18 members of the terrorist Stern gang "will not crush the spirit and determination of the fighters for freedom of Israel" (Sternista).

ANOTHER WARNING

Jerusalem, Aug. 21.
A warning of wholesale individual assassinations among the British authorities in Palestine if the 18 members of the Stern gang, sentenced to death at Haifa last Friday, are executed was given today by the "Haganah," the monthly publication of the Stern gang.—Reuter.

tion of the 'fighters for freedom of Israel' (Sternista).

No Fear

"Whoever fights for the liberation of his country does not fear death," the radio added. It warned listeners to prepare for "a long series of death trials" and added: "Today death sentences are passed on the Sternists but to-morrow sentences may be passed on Haganah members. Let us not allow the authorities to return to the laws of the middle ages."

A Jewish Agency spokesman said that Jews did not recognise the right of six or seven independent Arab states to interfere and negotiate in a Palestine settlement.

The Jewish side, however, had no objection to the participation of Palestinian Arabs in the forthcoming London conference, he added. The maintenance of contact in London and Paris must be recognised as "a cheerful and hopeful factor," he said.—Reuter.

Bomb Warning

Jerusalem, Aug. 21.
Telephone "bomb" warnings today sent the staff of the Palestine Broadcasting Service in Jerusalem rushing to safety.

The police combed the building but no bomb was found and the staff returned to duty after 25 minutes.—Reuter.

Key-Figure

Alexandria, Aug. 21.
The former Grand Mufti of Jerusalem emerged as the key figure in the Arab-Jewish negotiations with an Arab ultimatum that he be allowed to head the delegation to the conference in London on the Palestine situation.

The Palestine Arab Executive Committee announced that it would send a five-man delegation only if the exiled Mufti is allowed to serve as chairman of the group.—Associated Press.

Milan, Aug. 21.
Mussolini's body was sealed in a metal case and removed from the police headquarters at Milan yesterday and taken by car to a secret burial place, escorted by a platoon of armed police.

BOAC CRASH

Paris, Aug. 21.
Eight of nine occupants of a British Overseas Airways Corporation Lancaster bomber on its training flight from Lydd, Palestine, to London were killed today when the plane crashed at Saint Aubin de Ternay, about 80 miles west of Paris. The plane had a crew of eight and one staff passenger.—Reuter.

Control Of Dardanelles

(By Arthur Gavshon)

London, Aug. 21.
An informed Government source forecast on Tuesday that an international conference will be called this year to consider revision of the Montreux Convention of 1936, which set forth the terms of control of the Dardanelles.

The spokesman said that the United States, not a signatory to the Convention, would be represented.

A Foreign Office spokesman announced that Britain had joined America and France in expressing unqualified opposition to Soviet proposals for Russia's sharing military control of the Straits with Turkey. The British note would be delivered to the Soviet Government within 48 hours, he stated.

The official declared that a copy was being sent to the Turkish Government. He confirmed the receipt of a note from France, which had also been sent to Turkey, Russia and the United States.—Associated Press.

France's View

Paris, Aug. 21.
France insists that any change in the status of the Dardanelles Straits be made within the framework of the multinational Montreux Convention, a French spokesman said Tuesday.

Note To Russia

Washington, Aug. 21.
The acting U.S. Secretary of State, Mr. Dean Acheson, told a press conference today that the United States has handed a note to Russia in reply to the Russian suggestion that the Montreux convention should be revised so as to give Russia and Turkey the exclusive responsibility for the defence of the Dardanelles.

It is believed that the note demands that the defence of the Dardanelles should be Turkey's responsibility and suggests that if Turkey is unable to assume this responsibility it should be taken over by the United Nations Security Council.

In Ankara, a parliamentary group of the Republican People's Party (Government) at a meeting yesterday, thoroughly examined the text of the Turkish reply to the Soviet note, and approved the Government's policy. The Turkish reply will shortly be handed to the Soviet Government and published.—Reuter.

ADMISSIONS TO UNITED NATIONS

New York, Aug. 21.
The United Nations Security Council was today considering the recommendation from the Membership Committee that Sweden, Iceland and Afghanistan be admitted to United Nations membership. The Russian representative at last night's meeting announced that he endorsed the applications of Sweden and Iceland "with pleasure."

Six other applications for membership failed to receive the unanimous vote of the Committee. The Soviet Union opposed the applications of Spain, Iran, Portugal and Transjordan. Britain and the United States opposed Albania's application; and China opposed that of the Mongolian People's Republic.—Reuter.

Egypt Wants Slice Of Italian Colony

Paris, Aug. 21.

Egypt wants the Peace Conference to grant her frontier rectifications which will transfer from Italy the high plateau between Bardia and Solum, scene of many see-saw battles for Cyrenaica, Wafdist Ghali Pasha, chief of the Egyptian delegation here, told the Associated Press in an exclusive interview on Tuesday.

The slight, grey haired Ghali Pasha, who is to present his country's case to the delegates of the 21 nations in a plenary session, probably today, said his country based its claims on strategic reasons, although the area requested is Egyptian by race, language and custom.

He said he would propose that the frontier between Libya and Egypt be moved to just west of Bardia and that the oasis of Gharbub, in southwestern Libya, be transferred back to Egypt which was forced to cede it to Italy in 1925, the Wafdist leader declared.

In addition to the territorial demands, Ghali Pasha said he would request an as yet undetermined amount of reparations from Italy for destruction carried out by the Italian army in Western Egypt during their occupation.

The delegation leader, who on five occasions was his country's Foreign Minister, said he was awaiting a cable from Cairo telling him the exact sum sought. At the meeting of the

BLACK MARKET RICE

Singapore, Aug. 21.
The recent cut of about 40 per cent in rice ration has sent black market prices in northern Malaya—where the ration is 16 ounces per week—to new heights, it was reported today.

In one locality, Siamese rice is now quoted at eight dollars per catty or 100 times the official price.—Reuter.

International Reparations Conference in Paris last December, Egypt sent a global figure for all destruction by both German and Italian forces. Since then, Ghali Pasha said, the Egyptian Government has been working to break down the figure into two parts, one for Italy and one for Germany.—Associated Press.

DON CHISHOLM RELEASE SOUGHT

Washington, Aug. 21.
Release of an American-born newspaperman from the custody of the American Army was asked in the Federal Court here today. Officials are investigating his radio broadcasts during the Japanese occupation in Shanghai.

An action seeking a writ of habeas corpus was filed against Secretary of War Patterson on behalf of Robert Donald Chisholm by an attorney who said he was acting for Chisholm's mother.

The attorney said that Chisholm had been held in Shanghai without specific charges since 1945. He asserted that Chisholm was seized by the Japanese and was forced "literally at gunpoint" to make news broadcasts over the Shanghai station, and that Chisholm subsequently inflicted upon himself wounds rendering him incapable of continuing the broadcast.—Associated Press.

KARENS IN LONDON

London, Aug. 21.
A goodwill mission from the Karens, a Burmese minority famous as jungle fighters who operated with the Allies during the Pacific war, has arrived in London and will later go to the United States.

The mission consists first of two members, Sydney Loo Nee and Saw Po Chit. The third member, Saw Than Din, is expected in London soon.

The mission is non-political but is expected to have an interview with Sir Herbert Rance, newly appointed Governor of Burma.—Reuter.

FERRY SERVICES RESUME

Both the Star Ferry and the Yaumati Ferry resumed their cross-harbour service yesterday morning after a tie-up of almost a month.

The Star Ferry managed to put two of their vessels on the run, and though they operated on no fixed schedule—each boat leaving as it took on a full complement of passenger—they were able to cope with the traffic and there was no rush.

The Yaumati service did not run so smoothly. The Jordan Road vehicular service did not start till well past 8 a.m. and the Shumshulpo service about an hour later. Traffic on the latter was particularly heavy.

The Mongkok run was resumed shortly after noon. None of the vessels operated on any fixed schedule, and each left as it took on its full complement of passengers.

The Yaumati Co. hope to resume the Aberdeen and outside harbour limit ferry services, including that to Namtau (Po On District) today.

One effect of the resumption of the ferries is the almost complete stoppage of business by the motor boats which have been reaping a handsome profit during the strike.

The number of members of the Board of Arbitration set up by Government to adjudicate in the ferry dispute has been increased to seven with the appointment of the Hon. Mr. R. D. Gillespie, representing the two ferry companies in addition to Mr. L. Kadoorie and the Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo, representing the workers in addition to Mr. Hon Man Wai.

CANADIAN STRIKE

Montreal, Aug. 21.
The Dominion Works in Montreal of the Steel Company of Canada were idle yesterday when the workers walked off from their jobs, refusing to handle steel brought to Montreal last week by a freighter from the Hamilton strike bound plant at Hamilton. This was the first sympathy strike in Montreal by steel workers in support of the striking steel workers in Canada.—Reuter.

More H.K. Residents Arriving Soon

Another 50 Hong Kong residents are on the way back to Hong Kong, some in the Sibajak (from which they disembarked at Singapore on July 29) and are proceeding to the Colony by other ships) and some in the Empress of Scotland, which left Liverpool on Aug. 3 and which the passengers will leave at Singapore.

THE HAPPY WARRIOR

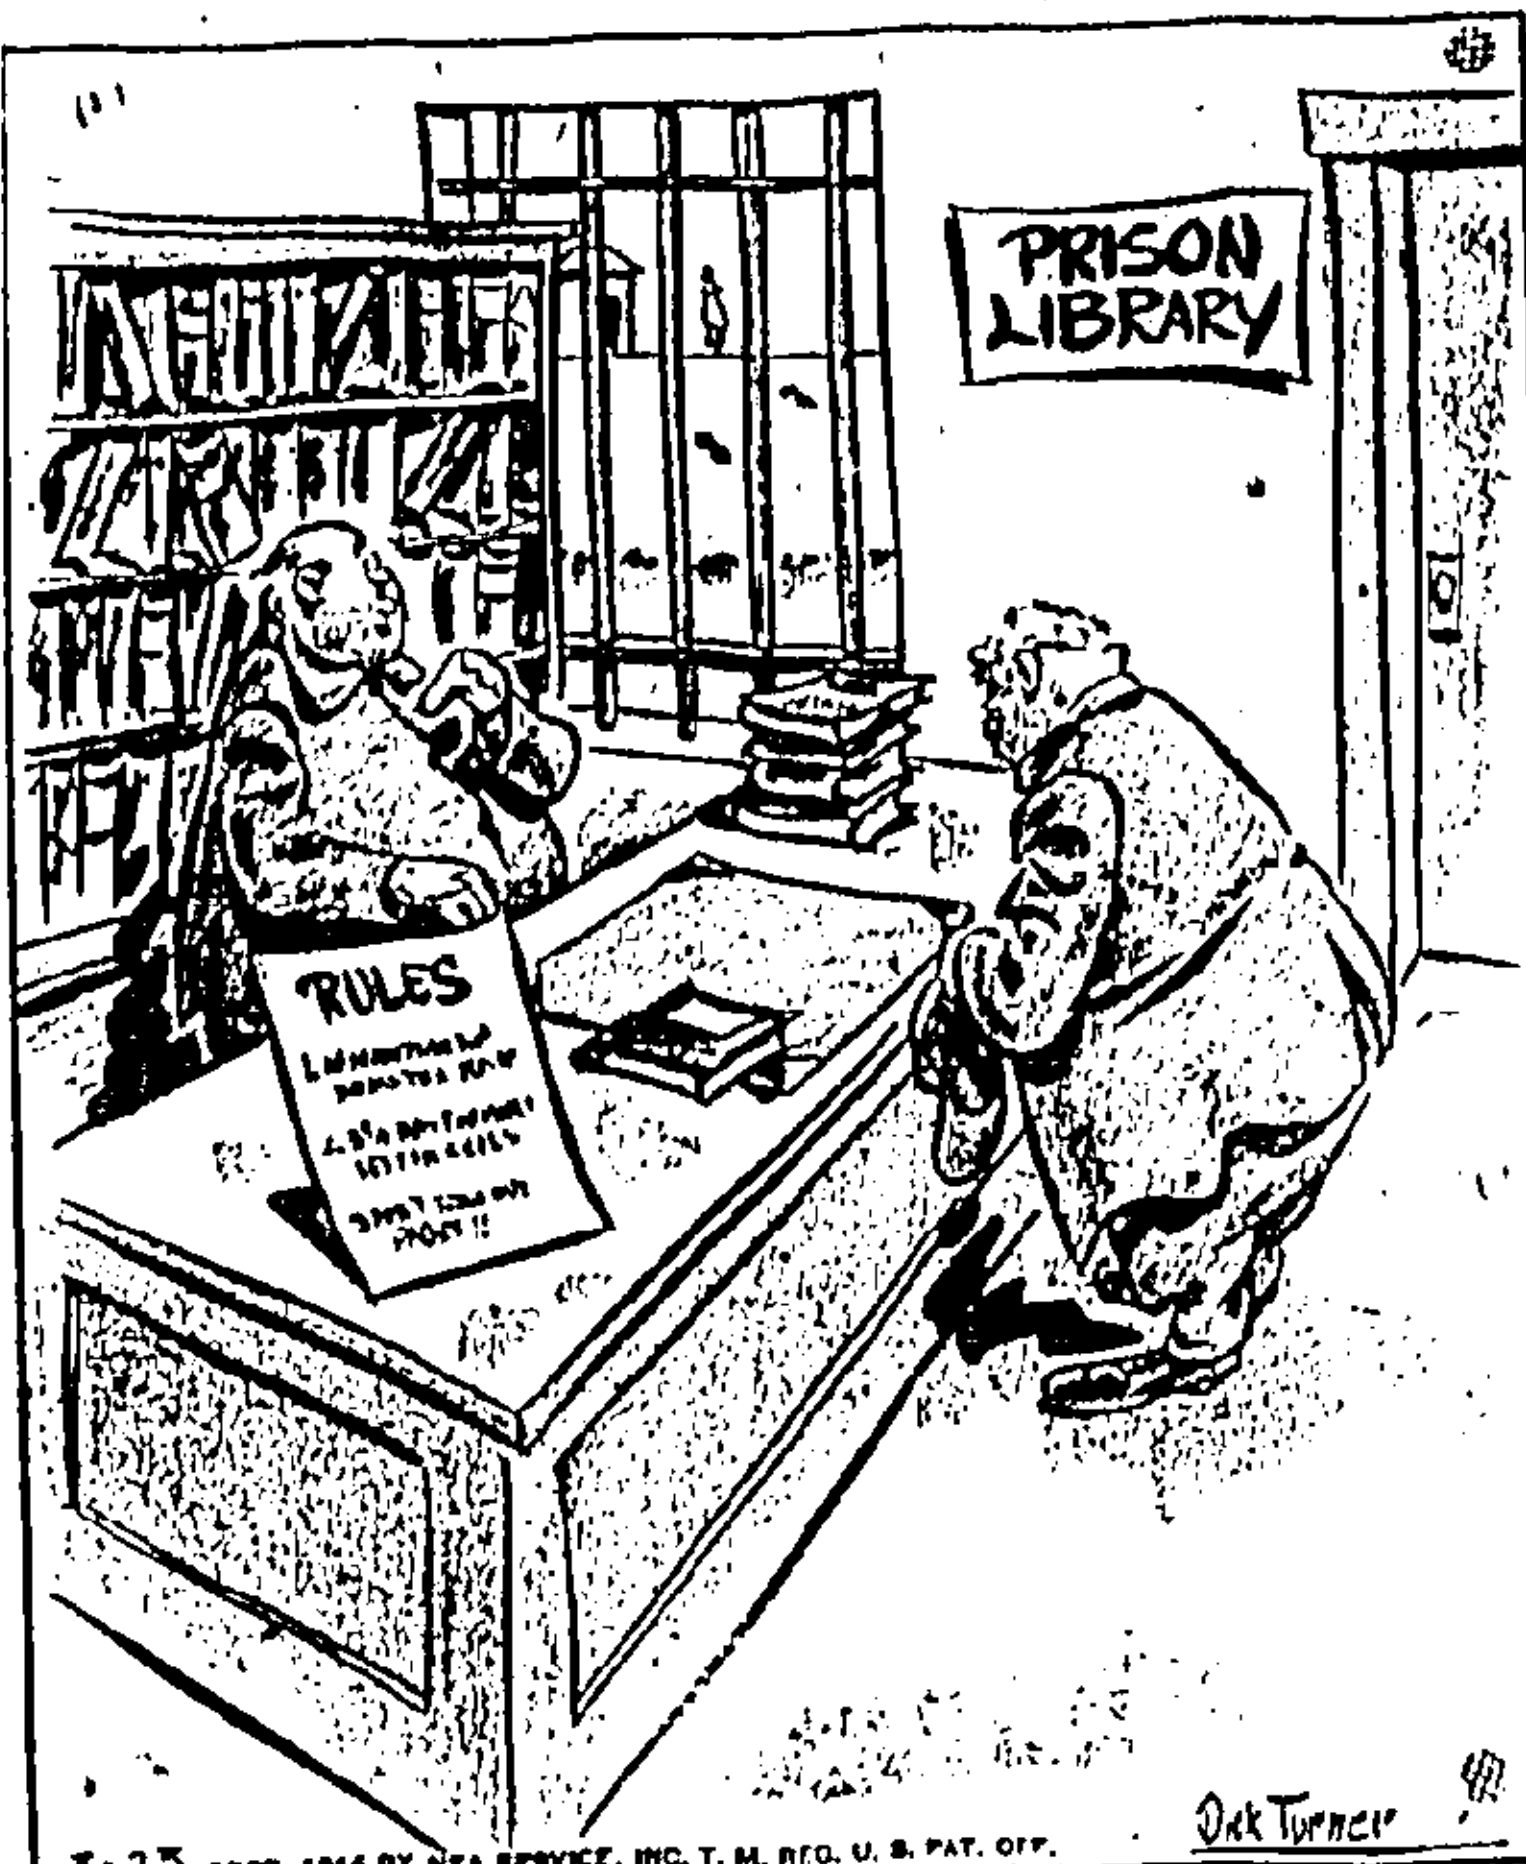

Within a few weeks of his assumption of the office of Chief of the Imperial General Staff, Field-Marshal Lord Montgomery has already laid far-reaching plans for the creation of a New Model Army. Rightly convinced that the best sort of warrior is the happy one, he proposes to abolish a whole series of archaic rules and restrictions which only detracted from the soldier's dignity as a man and contributed nothing to his qualities as a soldier. It is an outworn code of discipline which applies the rigours of camp life in the field to peace-time life in barracks and denies to the soldier the civilised amenities of any other profession. The execution of the proposals for providing every man with a living room and for improving the married quarters and messing facilities "will require enormous structural alterations and extensions, which will take time and cost a lot of money, but the idea itself will command prompt assent. Of the first importance, too, is the scheme for education and resettlement which is designed to equip the soldier for civilian life at the end of his service. There is no greater deterrent to recruitment than the fear of being cast adrift without prospect or resources at the prime of life. Another most valuable innovation is the series of conferences for generals to bring and keep up to date ideas of strategy and tactics and study the problems confronting an army in various theoretic fields of operation overseas. It has often been said in the past, and unfortunately with too much truth, that the British Army was trained to fight every new war with the methods of the last. The Army we need is one which, "not content that former worth stand fast, looks forward," and it is such an army that the new C.I.G.S. has set himself to create.

CHILD ALLOWANCES

As from August 6, under one of the last measures passed during the lifetime of the late Parliament, the first instalment of social security became formally operative with the weekly payment of an allowance of 5s to every mother in respect of each child in excess of one under the school-leaving age. The scheme is not an ideal one, since the burden on the finances of the family increases more than proportionately to the increase in its size, and it can be strongly argued that the outlay of $57,000,000 would have been better distributed by way of a graduated system of allowances. However, no one can dispute that the scheme as it stands, despite this weakness, introduces one of the most beneficial of the many measures of social reform that have been enacted during the past 30 years. As compared with the rest of the social security legislation already on the statute book and shortly to come into force, the family allowances are unique in that they are met wholly out of public revenues and embody no element of the insurance principle. In this they resemble the former non-contributory old-age pensions. Moreover, the 5s cash allowance is by no means all. It is to be supplemented by the development of the milk and meals in schools scheme up to an estimated cost of $50,000,000; so that the total outlay on family allowances to be included in the Budget will be in the neighbourhood of $100,000,000. A figure like this should be a reminder that social security can only be paid for out of a rising national income produced by full employment.

It's Not All Gloom In Britain

As you know—none better— the weather is always with us. Either it is too hot or else it is too cold.

This month it is too wet. I wouldn't know what Pravda has found wrong about us this week or what names Moscow is calling the Government, but in case you should think that we mind at all, I have to report that Britain is more concerned about the 28 days practically non-stop rain that we have endured.

In Cairo I longed for the cool breezes of Britain. Today, beside a stone cold radiator, with the rain coming down in sheets and the thunder booming like Monty's guns at Alamein I positively long for some of your sunshine.

If it were not so serious, it might be funny. Crops are suffering and the already difficult food situation may be worsened unless there is an improvement in the next fortnight.

MP's Discuss It

In the midst of other pressing matters, Parliament even has had the weather brought to its attention. The Under-Secretary of State for Air, Mr. de Freitas, who takes his new duties very seriously, was hard put to it to explain why the Air Ministry's weather experts let us down so badly on V-Day. They forecast sunshine and the rest of it. Instead it rained.

Lieutenant W. Shepperd raised a laugh when he suggested to the Minister that it would be cheaper and more reliable to hire a few aged farmers with well developed corns for forecasts than to enlarge the Ministry's meteorological section.

Air Commodore Harvey rubbed it in by saying roundly that the public were being consistently misled and the official forecasts were wider of the mark each day. The Meteorological Office would make no comment when I spoke to a senior official there but he did admit that it occasionally happened that they were wrong.

A Lost Depression

Apparently much of present weather is due to a depression having lost its way over the Atlantic. We have been getting weather intended for Iceland while Iceland has been enjoying our summer.

Greenwich Observatory officials admitted that in the present state of research long-term forecasts were impossible. Nobody could hope for accuracy more than a few hours ahead.

"Whatever people may say," This latter statement was apparently an answer to a claim made by two brothers who have set up in business as weather forecasters that they can guess what the mixture will be a month ahead. They claim to have secured contracts from the Bank of America and the Bank of London. Their job will be to guess whether or not a given day will be possible in any given day.

But accurate forecasting is equally important to the farmer. With still heavier food cuts facing us, it is important that he should be able to plan his work according to the weather.

Attacks On Minister

Mr. Tom Williams, the Minister of Agriculture, had a bad time at the Bournemouth Conference when delegates said some hard things about his Ministry and passed what amounted to a vote of censure against him.

Curiously the attacks upon him come from the Left and one Labour newspaper demanded his removal from office. The farm labourers' Union is against him; why is not clear. I asked a friend of his whether the Minister was likely to bow to the storm. His answer was, "I don't think so. He is a Welshman from Yorkshire . . . a stubborn strong-minded combination."

As things are, his task is not an enviable one. Where Sir Ben Smith and Sir Stafford Cripps were once the prophets of gloom, it is Mr. Williams who has had to paint the dark food future for us.

Not All Gloom

It would be idle to deny that there is not a considerable amount of grumbling but as the average Briton would be desperately unhappy if his right to what the Army calls "ticking like a clock" were taken away from him, it is not very serious.

In spite of the grimness of the weather all is not gloom. The old Britain is there at heart, even to the ballyhoo of one sort and another, highlighted for me this week by an invitation to meet 32 young women whose ambitions had led them to enter a competition for the title, "Holiday Princess of Britain."

They were pleasant young women utterly lacking in self-consciousness and undismayed even when Mr. Williams Butlin, the organiser, announced: "I didn't look for glamour. I was just looking for the girl it would be nice to live with . . ." Mr. Butlin, who has made a lot of money building holiday camps up and down the country, is heading for the title, "Goldwyn of Britain." Whether his publicity man deliberately invents some of the curious phrases he uses, I would not know. He told me in all seriousness that one of the girls "studied historical places such as Oxford." Of another he said that she "had been under German occupation for five years." It all adds to the gaiety of nations and a man who can raise a laugh on a beastly wet, cold June day deserves to get publicity.

Also providing us with smiles, is Beatrice Lillie's new show "Better Late." It is a delightful piece, with Miss Lillie putting over the funniest parody of Carmen Miranda I have ever seen. She has been in town for a week and safety

An English Village Goes Back To Sleep

There is a deserted air about many of England's tiny villages and hamlets today. A strange quietude is replacing the military hurry and bustle which descended with the war years on our peaceful countryside and stayed with it well into the postwar period.

But now the villages are being emptied as the men put aside their uniforms and return to their homes. Many of these troops came from the Allied countries overseas, and for a while the sleepy English villages became their homes.

When the time comes for them to leave there are honest pangs of regret on both sides, and it is clear that many friendships made during the war will be kept far into the peace.

Story Of Aldbourne

Just how a great number of these friendships were made up and down England may be best explained by the war story of Aldbourne, a village of two hundred souls, nestling securely among the rolling hills and downs of the picturesque Wiltshire countryside.

Early one morning in September 1943, Aldbourne awoke to a sudden invasion of eighteen companies of U.S. paratroopers and two Polish air force squadrons. The reserved English population heaved a sigh the usual quiet English Sunday suddenly became a gala day for Aldbourne. In the middle of the village green was spread a huge canopy of gaily coloured parachute silk. Underneath it a group of assorted musicians gave a concert while the villagers squatted around and sang the popular songs of the war years.

The sickle English climate was never allowed to interfere with the Sunday concert. Parachute silk by the yard defeated the rain, and wet or fine, the gathering presented itself for music of a doubtful cultural value at 2.30 precisely on Sunday afternoon.

Ma Dady

English football, a new game to the Americans, was played with friendly rivalry between the village youths and U.S. teams in front of the ancient "Blue Boar" inn on Saturday afternoon. Occasionally the game went to the Americans and that same night the bar of the "Blue Boar" resounded to the clink of beer glasses of the two teams, and supporters, with the voice of plump, benign landlady Mrs. Dady—known to all as "Ma"—resounding above it all.

Into Mrs. Dady's ears poured much of the life history of the young Americans and Poles. They invariably brought their worries and problems to her and in return received a measure of her practical advice.

On the 7th June 1944, one day after the Allied invasion of Europe began, the troops left Aldbourne for seven months. On June 9 many of them dropped from the skies over Normandy and northern France.

Not Forgotten

The afternoon they left Aldbourne, the village was bathed in warm June sunshine. In the doorways of the whitewashed cottages and residential houses the people stood and waved goodbye as the troops, in their chocolate coloured parachute uniforms and helmets and air force blue, climbed once more aboard the lorries, and swept away to the south coast to take part in the attack.

For a while the village was quiet again during their absence. Only the village post-box which at Christmas 1945 stood extra full of letters and greetings to Europe, showed that the troops had not been forgotten.

On a bitterly cold January morning the troops returned, but there were many empty spaces in their nissen hut homes around the village, belonging to those who had died or lay wounded in the hospitals. Those who came back, for their part, picked up once again their peaceful round of life in the neighbourhood.

Back To Sleep

I went back to Aldbourne not very long ago, but it was different. It is as though the village had gone back to sleep again. The little stone church on the low green hill which has survived the cluster of buildings below for hundreds of years, is brooding quietly. Only the scratched initials on its wrought iron gates are left to show that Aldbourne too once knew the clang and din of war.

But maybe if you pay a visit to Aldbourne one day and call in at the old "Blue Boar" you may hear the sound of laughing voices in the old oak tap room, the voices of young men who spent a little time there during England's darkest hour and who paid the price of never returning to their own lands.

"DOOLITTLE GRIPE BOARD"

Washington, Aug. 20. The U.S. Army has set out to overhaul the system that permitted over 2,500,000 medals to be handed out to officers and G.I.s during the recent war.

Taking note of criticism aired before the so-called Doolittle gripe board, a War Department announcement today said that the general staffs began review of awards and decorations as the first step toward assuring that distribution standards are uniform in manner. Also under study are means to set up an equitable system for operating clubs for enlisted men and officers. Associated Press.

Gala Day

Through the winter and spring of 1944 the paratroopers and airmen trained and hardened their bodies for the coming invasion. For a week in every month they made mock war around the village and the neat garden hedges and the fences of the sheep pens suffered in consequence. Sunday mornings saw the owner in company with the culprits cheerfully repairing the damage of the week before.

With the arrival of the troops

Girls who enchanted our fathers way back in those "dear dead days beyond recall" of the nineteen hundreds, held a reunion to mark the first night of a new film about George Edwards who was to Britain what Ziegfeld was to Broadway. Even "forty years on" they were delighted and some of the older men present at the party were positively wiping away a "lucky tear" or two. It was a lovely evening of reminiscence of those days when handsome trotted down Piccadilly and St. James's Street was lit by gas.

Czechoslovakia's Request Territorial Demands On Hungary Vyshinsky Peps Things Up

Paris, Aug. 21. Czechoslovakia today asked the Paris Conference to transfer to her some 40,000 acres of Hungarian territory to permit enlargement of the Danube port of Bratislava, capital of Slovakia. The area sought by Czechoslovakia faces Bratislava on the south bank of the Danube and includes five villages with a population of 7,523 inhabitants, according to the Hungarian census of 1930.

The Czech demand was made in the form of an amendment to the Hungarian draft treaty, handed into the Conference Secretariat a few hours before the deadline for such amendments—midnight tonight.

Altogether, fewer than 12 amendments were expected, although it will still be open to delegations to move further amendments as discussion progresses in the nine Conference Committees dealing with the five draft treaties.

A second Czech amendment proposes a new article in the treaty authorising her to transfer up to 200,000 of the Hungarian minority to Hungary, who would be bound to receive them as nationals.

The methods of carrying out this big transfer would be, firstly, bilateral agreement between the two countries to be reached within six months from the coming into force of the treaty.

Ominous Step By Italy
Italy, too, has taken the advantage of the opportunity given to ex-enemy states, and submitted a series of amendments to the treaty drawn up for her by the Big Four. Among them is an ominous amendment seeking to have the preamble to the treaty re-worded so as to pin responsibility for Italy's part in the war on Germany's side, on the Fascist regime as distinct from the Italian people.

In the Committee today Yugo-Slavia maintained that an ex-enemy state could not move amendments, and was supported by New Zealand among other delegations.

For four hours tonight, the Italian Political and Territorial Committee, having completed a preliminary discussion on the Italian memorandum, discussed how it should then proceed.

Vyshinsky Move
Disagreement arose over what action should be taken on the memorandum.

The chairman, Mr. Leif Ege-land (South Africa), repeatedly suggested that the discussion should be closed, the meeting adjourn and the preamble be discussed paragraph by paragraph at the next meeting.

Mr. Andrei Vyshinsky (Russia) wanted either to adjourn without any decision on the Italian memorandum, or to record in the minutes that it was discussed and that no one supported it.

Spirited intervention by Mr. Vyshinsky speeded up the work of the Italian Political and Territorial Committee. Urging an immediate debate on the Italian memorandum he declared: "What is the use of arguing about what we shall be doing a quarter of an hour from now or tomorrow?"

Anxiety Over Yugoslavia
Meanwhile, the Conference is awaiting with a mixture of curiosity and anxiety the repercussions of the British and American notes to Yugo-Slavia accusing her of inciting the population of Trieste and the Allied Occupied Zone.

Most observers feel that the notes, coming at this moment, are above all intended to emphasise the determination of the Western Allies not to allow any efforts at intimidation in the disputed areas, or moves of the Yugo-Slav Government to precipitate a modification of the present form of Military Government until a final solution is agreed for the disposal of the territory.

This, it is understood, is a 21-point draft of which 11 clauses are unanimously agreed by all four members (United

DYING GETS DEARER

Paris, Aug. 21. Death will be dearer in France as from today. Mon. Charles Lutzet, Paris Police Prefect, has told undertakers they may increase charges by 200 per cent on the 1930 rates. The minimum burial charges have been about £2.—Reuter.

States, Britain, France and Russia). The American and British views are identical on all 31 points, both in substance and drafting, while France is believed to begin substantial agreement with them on no fewer than 28 clauses.

Transit Rights

Although a single document incorporated all four views, including the Russian, it follows a pattern of the main draft treaties in presenting simultaneously divergent views on unagreed points.

The most important outstanding issue is the definition of the rights of transit from the free port, which was agreed upon by the Big Four during the last Paris meeting.

Whereas the United States, Britain and France interpret these rights as freedom to use the rail and road communications connecting the free port with the hinterland for trading with Central Europe, the Russians seek to restrict this right to the immediate area of the free zone of Trieste.—Reuter.

Officer Free On Murder Charge

Jerusalem, Aug. 21. After deliberating for 20 minutes tonight, a general court martial here found Lieutenant Benjamin Woodworth, a Pioneer Corps officer, not guilty of murdering a Jew, Amram Rosenberg, at Tel Aviv on June 18.

The remaining finding, subject to confirmation, will be promulgated later, the president of the court said.

The court martial will convene again tomorrow for the announcement of the findings.

In a two hour summing up, Mr. Edmund Davis, judge advocate at the court-martial, said: "All murder cases are important and this case is particularly important for Palestine having regard to the status of the accused and the race of the deceased man."—Reuter.

Fawcett In The News Again

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 21. Reports published in Copenhagen that the British explorer, Colonel Fawcett, has been found after a score of years in the Brazilian jungle, were denied today by a onetime personal friend, General Candido Rondon.

The General, chief of the Brazilian National Council for Indian Protection, and one of the world's authorities on the difficult back country of Brazil, said that he was "convinced that Fawcett was killed by Calapalos Indians several years ago."

General Rondon himself led many searches for Colonel Fawcett in the years after his disappearance in 1925.—Associated Press.

NO JUNGLE IN GOA

Bombay, Aug. 21. The Government of Portuguese India, commenting today on Mr. M. K. Gandhi's statement, in his paper Harijan, that there was no civil liberty in Goa, said:

"Goans themselves do not wish to integrate Goa into Mr. Gandhi's Greater India." The present movement in Goa for civil liberties, the Government statement said, was limited to "a small number of persons with a personal grudge against the Portuguese administration."

"There is freedom of the press and the platform, but no licentious freedom of the jungle," added the statement.—Reuter.

LAGUARDIA PUTS FOOT IN IT

Berlin, Aug. 21. In reply to a question yesterday about immigration into Palestine, Mr. LaGuardia replied, "If the British would just fire Ernest Bevin and appoint me Foreign Minister, I could fix that."

When asked to comment on General Morgan's statement on Jewish infiltration into the American zone of Germany made several months ago, LaGuardia replied, "I should be the last person to comment on someone else making unfortunate remarks."—Associated Press.

NEW QUAKE IN CARIBBEAN

Miami, Aug. 21. Lieutenant W. E. Hubert, Navy seismologist, today reported another quake which is classed as heavy to severe and is apparently centred in the quake-shaken Caribbean area.

A slight tremor was noted on Monday in the Dominican Republic, which was already badly shaken by quakes.—Associated Press.

Soviet Getting On With The Harvest

Moscow, Aug. 21. Half of the Soviet Union's total grain acreage has already been harvested, as a result of crops having matured earlier and because of a better use of combines and other harvesting machines, it was reported Tuesday in the Soviet Press.

No figures have been given on the expected full yield, but estimates that the take will be fair and better than average gave hope for an early end to bread rationing, promised by Generalissimo Stalin several months ago, and since held out as a goal by other Russian leaders.

The fastest harvest pace is reported to have been set by the Ukraine, Kuban, Crimea and Don River areas—Europe's most important wheat growing regions. In these areas, according to the Russian dispatches, four-fifths of the crops are already in the harvest this year include about 35,000,000 more acres of grain than were reaped last year, as a result of the introduction of wheat growing to other sections of the Union.

The Kazakhstan wheat fields, for example, producing about 4,500,000 acres of grain around the Caspian Sea and eastward to Central Asia, were regarded before the war as cattle raising lands. Greatly adding the Russian food situation today are the large shipments of new potatoes and other garden vegetables and fruit which have been pouring into Moscow and other Russian cities in great quantities.—Associated Press.

Britain Takes Over German Steel Mills

Herford, Aug. 21. The British Military Government has today taken over the whole of the German iron and steel industry in the British zone, the Allied Control Commission announced tonight.

This step is in accordance with the British policy. A Control Commission official told Reuter: "The action is in accordance with Article 12 in the protocol to establish a firm control over major German industrial potential and to break down the influence of excessive concentration of economic power."

The peak capacity of the German iron and steel industry in the British zone before and during the war was about 10,000,000 tons.

The British decision was notified to the Allied Control Council today by Air Chief Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas, Commander-in-Chief of British forces in Germany.—Reuter.

Sole Trustee Of Palestine

London, Aug. 21. A Government informant said today that Britain will ask the United Nations Trusteeship Council next month to appoint her sole trustee for Palestine.

The source said it had been decided that the step was necessary since, with the demise of the League of Nations, Britain's mandatory rights no longer exist. He added that Britain would "certainly not" give up the Holy Land mandate and had never considered doing so.

An Arab Office spokesman said that there is good reason to believe that, if Britain asks for trusteeship, Egypt will do likewise.—Associated Press.

DUTIES OF NEW STEEL BOARD

London, Aug. 20. The British Government has decided that the Iron and Steel Board shall supervise the development and reconstruction of the industry but will not advise on the plans for public ownership, the Ministry of Supply announced today.

Such plans will be treated by the Government as a separate matter, it added. The decision to set up a board responsible to the Ministry of Supply was announced in the House of Commons last April. The name of the members of the board will be announced later.—Reuter.

EVEREST HERO'S NEW POST

London, Aug. 21. Major General J. G. Bruce, Deputy Chief of the Indian General Staff, has been appointed Lahore Area Commander in succession to Major General W. B. Huxford, who is retiring. Major General Bruce, in company with Captain G. I. Finch, climbed to within 1,800 feet of the peak of Mount Everest in 1922.—Associated Press.

PUPPET PREMIER HANGED

Prague, Aug. 21. Bela Tuka, theology professor whom the Germans established as puppet premier of Slovakia, was hanged in the courtyard of the Bratislava Prison today for treason.

He attended his trial in a wheelchair, and heard himself accused of plunging Slovakia into war against Russia and of persecuting Jews.—Associated Press.

TEN FRUIT-RETAIL SHOPS TO COOPERATE WITH GOVT.

SAID POLICE BEAT THEM UP

"I don't believe your story that the police assaulted you to obtain your confession," said Sir Henry Blackall, Chief Justice, in the Supreme Court yesterday when sentencing Chan Hong, 26, to five years' hard labour for robbery by violence.

Chan, together with Ng Cheung, 22, were charged with robbing the occupants of a hut in Jardine's Hill of a quantity of clothing by violence at 2 a.m. on June 26, last. Both pleaded not guilty.

Wounded Man Who Took His Wallet

Yue Leung-yee, 37, a stoker of the ss. "Tijbadak," was sentenced to one month's simple imprisonment by the Magistrate, Mr. Horace Lo, in Kowloon Court for unlawfully and maliciously wounding a pickpocket who had stolen his wallet.

It had been claimed in evidence against defendant that he had mistreated the pickpocket to such an extent that the man slashed himself with a sharp instrument in an attempt to take his own life. The man said that he had been hung up by the wrists and beaten with a half-inch thick length of rope.

Defendant said that he mistreated the pickpocket in exasperation after pleading with him to return his wallet which contained two passports and a document of the utmost importance to himself. He even promised him his freedom if the wallet were returned and did not begin beating him until he had given him sufficient time to recover the wallet.

Defendant denied having tied the man up in such a position that he could not sleep but admitted having mistreated him.

In passing sentence, Mr. Lo said: "You have inflicted very serious and grievous injury to the complainant, which you had no right to do. It was, however, done under provocation. I convict you of the charge and send you to prison for one month from August 3, the date of your arrest."

Constable Took Bribe

A special Police constable, Tsang Hon-yuen, was charged before Mr. H. G. Sheldon K. C. at the Central Magistracy yesterday with accepting a bribe of $15 from Ma Fan at the Yee On Godown, Connaught Road West.

Mr. Alfred S. K. Lau pleaded not guilty on behalf of the accused.

Detective Sub-Inspector Saul prosecuted.

Witness for the Crown, Ma Fan, a foki, stated that he was directing the unloading of rattan when accused walked into the godown and said he was responsible for the district. It was not proper to unload after 6 p.m. Accused told him if ten money is given to him, the matter could be compromised.

Accused suggested $20. He gave accused $15.

Shortly afterwards accused was brought back to the godown by two constables.

After further evidence, accused was convicted and fined $500 or three months' hard labour.

YOUTH GETS CANING

Four Chinese, including a 16-year-old youth, were arraigned before Mr. Justice E. H. Williams, Paines Judge, in the Criminal Sessions yesterday on two charges of armed robbery.

With a previous conviction, 'Chau Kam-tin' was sentenced to six years' hard labour; Cheung Sang was given five years; and Fong Sang, who was found not guilty by the jury, was discharged. The 16-year-old youth was given nine strokes of cane without any fine.

All the four accused were alleged to have robbed two huts in Tai Wong Village, Kowloon City, on June 8, last, when one of them was armed with a gun.

For the theft of a brass basin from the basement of No. 49, Cochrane Street, Wong Chor-chol, 25, unemployed, was sentenced to two months' hard labour by Mr. Sheldon, K.C., at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

The Price Controller has received several complaints regarding the methods at present adopted by retailers in the disposal of their supplies of fresh fruit. These complaints have received the most careful consideration and the following statement is issued in the hope that it will clarify the position.

Many retailers, especially the street-hawkers, have not been complying fully with Government regulations as they have been retailing the smaller types of oranges at the official price and have been disposing of the larger types at excessive prices. Several traders who have sold oranges above the controlled price are now being prosecuted and Government will continue to take action against those retailers who try to evade price control regulations.

In pre-war days fruits were sold on the retail market at prices which varied according to size. It is not considered desirable to regulate prices of every size of fruit partly because importers are not in a position to furnish Government in advance with details regarding sizes of the fruit in expected shipments, because overseas agents are forced to purchase supplies on the open market, and partly because of the difficulty in checking whether prices charged for the sizes on sale are in fact those gazetted by Government.

In a previous communication the Price Control Office advised the public that large shipments were expected shortly in the Colony. When these shipments arrive, the public should experience no difficulty in obtaining adequate supplies of fresh fruit at controlled prices as several of the more important firms and retailers in this Colony have assured Government of their full co-operation and their intention to retail supplies at controlled prices. Government has also persuaded importers to keep these firms well supplied. These firms have, in addition, agreed to mix their supplies in order that purchasers receive a fair percentage of large with the small oranges and apples, and the public are asked to co-operate with the firms concerned by accepting a reasonable variety in sizes.

Cooperating Firms

The firms which have so far agreed to co-operate are listed below:—

Asin Co.,
Ol Kwan Bldg., Des Voeux Rd.
Cheung Hing Store,
53, Nathan Road.
China Emporium,
Queen's Road, C.
Kwong Tung Hing,
108, Des Voeux Road.
Sincere Co., Des Voeux Road, C.
The Sun Co., Ltd.,
Wing Sang Cheung,
10-11, Queen Victoria St.
Yat Cheong Provision Store,
10, Saigon Road.

The above firms include some of the largest pre-war retailers of fresh fruit and the public are invited to purchase their supplies from these shops if their regular retailers fail to supply them at official prices. Sufficient supplies are not yet on the market but importers hope soon to be able to meet all demands and keep the above named retailers fully supplied with stocks of apples, oranges and lemons.

If members of the public wish to make complaints against any retailer of fresh fruit it is recommended that these be lodged direct with the Price Controller giving full information in order that appropriate action can be taken.

Film Review

If the Maria Montez-Jon Hall team continues its present series of films they will soon be eligible for inclusion in a book of fairy tales. Recently we have seen them cross swords with the wicked Caliph's brother in "Arabian Nights" and get entangled in a desultory story of a mysterious tropical isle in "Cobra Woman."

"Gypsy Wildcat," a further chapter from this technicolored story book, commences at the Queen's Theatre today, and once again it is the lot of Jon Hall to rescue the fair damsel from the clutches of the villain.

Indeed, the villain is in fact a bold, bad Baron, with bow and arrow soldiers and a castle, the furnishings of which include branding irons and a torture stake.

A King's messenger—traveling incognito—arrives to investigate the sinister activities of the Baron, who always blames the gypsies, led by Miss Montez, Leo Carrillo and Gale Sondergaard.

Faced with the prospect of marriage to the Baron in return for her people's freedom, Maria discovers that after all she is the long lost relative entitled to all of the Baron's wealth.

Which works out very nicely. It always does in fairy stories. D.H.

Chinese Doctors Convicted

For publishing their names as persons practicing medicine, when they were, in fact, not registered, seven Chinese doctors were each fined $150 by Mr. F.X. d'Almeida at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

Mr. R. S. Smith appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. C. Y. Kwan for the defence.

The doctors convicted were Wong Pok-chai, of Queen's Road West, Chan Tai-sang, of Queen's Road Central, The King-sung, of Wing Lok Street, Lai Kin-kung, of Johnston Road, Yue Yat-cho, of Nathan Road, Sam Pui-sang, of Des Voeux Road Central and Fung Pok-cheung, of Shanghai Street.

Two other doctors, Tsang Hok-nin of Lockhart Road and Leung Yik-sau of Ho Tung Building, Central, were discharged.

Dr. P. A. M. Van de Linde, Medical Officer, stated that he visited the accused's premises, where instruments used in Western medicine were found.

Says Witness Is Really His Wife

An Indian watchman employed by the China Light and Power Company, Mustafa Khan, 45, claimed at Kowloon Court yesterday that one of the witnesses against him in a case in which he is charged with assault was his wife, whom he had married during the Japanese occupation under the Mohammedan rite. He produced a marriage document in Arabic.

It is alleged that about 2.45 p.m. on August 14, defendant approached an R.A.M.C. orderly, Cheung Mo-se, outside the Peninsula Hotel and pointed a loaded revolver at him.

Cheung said that the woman in question, Lau Lai-kuen, was his wife whom he married on the third day of the third moon this year.

Lau said that defendant had said "If you remain in Hong Kong, I will kill you." He was speaking, she said, in Hindustani, which she understood.

In reply to defendant's statement that she had married him in a Mohammedan ceremony, she said that she had married him under duress.

Further hearing of the case is to continue this morning before Mr. Horace Lo.

CLUMSY PICKPOCKET

Mr. Charles Rozesky, of No. 150, Caine Road, was complainant when Chan Ping was charged before Mr. H. G. Sheldon, K.C., at the Central Magistracy yesterday with attempted larceny.

Accused attempted to extract money from the complainant's trouser's pocket, but failed and was caught, in Des Voeux Road Central at about 5.30 p.m. on Tuesday.

Sentence of three months' hard labour was imposed.

Readers' Letters

Hague Convention

Sir,—Referring to the letters from "International Law," M. A. Lee, "Wanting-to-be-Confirmed," Chang Wen-wu and J. Tong on the problem of immovable property purchased in Macao and Hong Kong during the occupation, I should like to draw attention to the Hague Convention of 1907, for I find there are some who have a vague conception of it.

There were 13 conventions in the Hague Conference of 1907, also known as the Second Hague Peace Conference. Convention IV, termed "Convention respecting the laws and customs of war on land," has nine articles. It also has an annex "Regulations respecting the laws and customs of war on land" in which there are 56 articles. This Regulation has also been called The Hague Regulations of 1907, or the Hague Regulations.

The full text is "The contracting powers shall issue instructions to their armed land forces which shall be in conformity with the Regulations respecting the laws and customs of war on land annexed to the present Convention."

The full text of Art. 46 and 47 of the Hague Regulations is as follows: "Art. 46. Family honour and rights, the lives of persons, and private property, as well as religious convictions and practice, must be respected. Private property cannot be confiscated."

"Art. 47. Pillage is formally forbidden. It is not correct to entitle these two articles 'Art. 46 and 47 of the Hague Convention of 1907' but of the 'Hague Regulations.' We should not confuse the Convention (IV) and its Regulations."

I am of opinion that the confiscation of immovable property is legitimate provided that the vendee obtained the buying power by collaborating with the Japanese. We have the knowledge of what is called "principles of punishment," viz. death, imprisonment and fine, and "accessory punishment," viz. deprivation of civic rights and confiscation. It has been an unequivocal fact that the Courts of the Colony have never imposed the "accessory punishment" on the three collaborators who have been executed by hanging.

I submit that the lifting of the moratorium governing land and house transactions bought and sold during the occupation of Hong Kong should be enforced as quickly as possible since the Courts of the Colony have been not imposing the accessory punishment, and on the other hand, transactions during the occupation are not prohibited by international law. (See Art. 42-56 of the Hague Regulations). Actually we cannot allege that all house transactions were the results of coercion by collaborators and that all the vendees were collaborators as well.

MOONDON S. K. YEE.

"Clean Hands"

Sir,—In reply to those who defend the legality of real estate transactions in the occupation days, I quote an old dictum that "he who comes to equity must come with clean hands." International Law does not extend protection to violators of International Law or collaborators who were fortunate to buy houses when in-terest, political prisoners and loyal subjects could hardly make a living.

If the Mikado had won the war defenders of Japanese rights would have their way. But Japan has surrendered.

I venture to propose to the government that all real estate transacted during the occupation be requisitioned and the proceeds appropriated for meeting the government deficit, indemnifying public institutions.

M. A. LEE.

GEN. LO CHO-YING DUE TODAY

General Lo Cho-ying, Governor of Kwangtung, is expected to arrive at Kai Tak Airport at 2.30 p.m. today. He is paying a return visit to His Excellency the Governor of Hong Kong, and will be accompanied by Madame Lo.

They will be met on arrival by the Acting Colonial Secretary, Mr. R. R. Todd; the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, Mr. T. Megarry; the Chinese Special Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, Mr. T. W. Kwok; the Chinese Members of Council, Miss N. Young, daughter of the Governor, and the Governor's A.D.C. A Guard of Honour will be provided by 150 Indian Infantry Brigade.

The party will cross the harbour in the Governor's barge, and will land at Queen's Pier at 3.15 p.m., when General and Madame Lo will be welcomed by His Excellency the Governor and Lady Kung and Members of the Executive and Legislative Councils. The distinguished visitor will then inspect a Guard of Honour drawn from No. 8 Commandos. The Band of the Jai-pur Guards will be in attendance.

General and Madame Lo will be the guests of honour at a cocktail party to be given at Government House this evening, after which they will attend a dinner given

Marine Court

Sgt. Flockton of 1/5 Commandos was complainant in the Marine Court yesterday in a charge against So Tam-yue, a fisherman, for using dynamite for fishing off Salikung.

He said that he was swimming at the time and was about 200 yards away from accused's boat when he heard an explosion. He then saw Tam throw two sticks of dynamite into the water, after which other sampans closed in to catch fish.

Tam strenuously denied the charge and said that someone else must have thrown the dynamite. The Magistrate, Mr. J. Jolly, after questioning both complainant and accused, said that whilst he did not disbelieve Sgt. Flockton, there was the obvious difficulty of identification at such a distance and that in the circumstances accused must be given the benefit of the doubt. Tam was accordingly found not guilty and discharged.

Other cases at the Marine Court were:

Ng Ping, master of a motor junk, was charged with failing to produce his licence when called upon to do so by the Police, and with causing an obstruction in the Southern Fairway. He pleaded guilty to both charges, explaining that his licence was deposited with the Kowloon Customs at the time; as to the obstruction charge he pleaded ignorance. Stating that ignorance was no excuse, the Magistrate imposed a fine of $50 or 2 weeks on each charge.

A similar charge of failing to produce her licence was preferred against Yu Yun-yung, motor junk mistress. Pleading guilty, she said that she was negotiating for the sale of the junk and at the time of the offence the licence was being shown to a prospective buyer. She was fined $50 or 14 days in default. On an additional charge of carrying 198 passengers in excess of the number permitted, she was fined $100 or 1 month in default.

Lai Fat, master of a motor junk, charged with having 10 excess passengers on board at Ping Chan, pleaded that 2 of them were cargo coolies who clambered on board as soon as the boat tied up. He had a previous conviction for a similar offence, and a fine of $20 or one week in default was imposed.

A keen eye for business prospects landed Lo Wo, coxswain of a Diesel-engined motor trading junk, in Court yesterday. The junk normally operated on the Hong Kong-Kowloon run, but Lo, seeing that a better return could be got by ferrying passengers across the harbour while the ferry strike was on, diverted the vessel to this run, and he was caught on Tuesday with 133 excess passengers on board.

Upon the Magistrate pointing out that as a trading junk he was not permitted to operate within the waters of the Colony, accused said that there was business to be done owing to the ferry strike. He was fined $100 or one month in default.

C.S.M. Found With Fractured Skull

Singapore, Aug. 21

When the court martial was resumed at Kluang, Johore, today of the 262 British paratroopers, charged with mutiny, it was disclosed that Company Sergeant-Major O'Brien, important prosecution witness, had been found suffering from a fractured skull.

The judge advocate stated that he was ill and unable to give evidence. Sergeant-Major O'Brien on Friday last gave evidence of the cordoning off of the paratroopers who had congregated at a sea wall and had refused to fall in.

It is understood that Sergeant-Major O'Brien staggered into a military police post in a semi-conscious condition, following the mystery attack. He was unable to give any description of his assailants as the doctors felt in his condition he should not be questioned, but the latest medical report states that he has recovered consciousness and his condition is "quite good."

The doctors stated to-day he will be fit to talk and move about in two days but it is unlikely he will be discharged from the hospital for another ten days. He had a gash over the right eye and a bad cut over the right ear, caused apparently by a sharp instrument. The X-ray picture showed he suffered from a fractured skull.

At to-day's hearing evidence was given by Major E. Dean, who stated that the tents of B Company were pitched on a ground which was not normally soggy but which after rain became muddy and to a certain extent waterlogged.

Another officer, Major P. R. Krell, second in command of the battalion, said he could not give details to the court of what took place because "I myself was so disgusted with the whole proceeding that I spent most of my time in the Company's office."—Reuter.

Robbers Get Five Years And A Caning

A sentence of five years' hard labour and 10 strokes of the cane each was imposed by Mr. Justice E. H. Williams, Paines Judge, in the Criminal Sessions yesterday on Tse Pat, 30, and Lam Kam-ping, 22, for armed robbery and for possession of arms and ammunition.

The pair was said to have (with others not in custody and armed with revolvers) robbed Mr. E. H. Eamail and Mr. M. Y. Hussan, of $180, a watch and a jewelled gold ring at 9.30 p.m. on June 21, last, in Wongachung Road.

They hustled the two Indian merchants into a side lane and robbed them. Immediately after the robbery, the two Indians telephoned the No. 2 Police Station and a police party under Sub-Inspector V. Mischenko arrived on the scene in a car. The police picked up the two Indians and drove in direction the robbers had taken.

At the junction of Hennessey and Marsh Roads, the police spotted three Chinese getting into a tricycle. The police approached them with drawn revolvers and the first accused put his hand to his girdle. Inspector Mischenko shouted to him: "Put up your hands or I will kill you!"

Two of the robbers slowly raised their hands and were arrested. The third man managed to escape.

ROBBER LOSES ONE SHOE

An armed robber who awakened Chan Po, 23-year-old cigarette hawker, from a nap yesterday evening not only got nothing for his pains, but is now minus one shoe. Chan Po has the shoe.

The hawker was asleep in his room on the 2nd floor of 43 Portland Street at about 8.30 p.m. He was suddenly awakened, and found himself staring into the muzzle of a revolver. Chan Po reacted speedily—by grabbing hold of the man. They struggled in the dark room for a few minutes before the robber managed to break loose and beat it down the stairs.

Chan Po came down the stairs in hot pursuit. The man got away in the street, but was in such a hurry he did not stop to pick up a shoe he had dropped.

Convicted of the larceny of a fire extinguisher from the "Nabcatcher," Kai Tak, property of the British Overseas Airways Corporation, Chiu Chi-keung, a chauffeur, was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour by Mr. W. H. Latimer, in Kowloon Court yesterday.

Searched Asst. Superintendent Of Police

Giving evidence in Kowloon Court yesterday against an Assistant Superintendent of the Kowloon Wharf Police who is charged with the larceny of two bottles of brandy from No. 3 Kowloon Godown, a godown watchman said that he did not know defendant was an Assistant Superintendent of Wharf Police when he insisted on searching him at a godown gate.

The watchman, Lau Sai-shing, was giving evidence against Abdul Aziz Rumjahn, 27, charged with the larceny of two bottles of brandy on the night of July 12. He said that while on duty outside No. 3 Godown about 10.30 p.m. he saw defendant walk into the godown and followed him in. On seeing him, defendant walked away in the direction of No. 5 Godown.

He spoke with another watchman on duty and they kept track of defendant. Finally, about 15 minutes later, defendant started walking in the direction of one of the gates. The watchman noticed two bulges under his raincoat and insisted on searching him. Defendant protested. The bulges were two bottles of brandy. It was not raining at the time, he said. He took defendant to the guardhouse and the case was handed over to the Police.

After hearing the first few witnesses, the Magistrate, Mr. W. H. Latimer, accompanied by Mr. L. R. Whant, for the prosecution, and Mr. M. A. da Silva, for the defence, went to the Kowloon Wharves to examine the scene. Further hearing of the case was adjourned to the afternoon of August 27.

ORCHESTRAL CONCERT

The Lingnan University Orchestra, conducted by Mr. C. D. Bernardo and assisted by Prof. Harry Ore, pianist, will give a concert at the King's Theatre on Sunday at 12 noon in aid of the Lingnan Y.M.C.A. School.

The Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo, a member of the Board of Directors of the University, is honorary chairman of the concert while Bishop R. O. Hall, another member of the board, is the sponsor.

Tickets for the concert are obtainable at The Tsang Fook Piano Co., On Lok Yuen restaurant, and the Y.M.C.A. downtown centre at the following prices: $10, $5, and $3.

MacArthur Suffers His First Major Reversal

Civil War Grows Nearer

(By Doon Campbell)

Nanking, Aug. 21. The Chinese Communists declare that Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek has thrown more than 2,000,000 Kuomintang troops, or more than eighty per cent of the whole Government army, into the civil war.

Neither Government nor Communist quarters here, however, appear to entertain as a possibility the breaking off of relations and an open declaration of war between the Nationalists and Communists, in spite of the increased tempo of charges and counter-charges.

Although the peace negotiations have been at a standstill for more than six weeks, General George Marshall, United States special envoy, and Mr. John Leighton Stuart, United States Ambassador to China, are still working overtime and refusing to abandon the hope of reconciling the military and political difficulties between the Central Government and the Yenan Communist headquarters.

The latest reports from Peiping stated that through the Executive Headquarters, the Nationalist Commissioner, Mr. Chen Jiahming, has sent an ultimatum to the Communist General Yeh Ching-ying, stating that unless the Communists lift the siege of the beleaguered garrison at Tating in North Shansi, the Government would launch an all-out offensive against the Communist citadels at Yenan and Kalgan.

"Phoney"

While the war in some areas is very real, in other sectors it seems to be "phoney." In a recent three-hour flight over the North Kiangsu "battlefield," I saw no sign of military activity. The most extreme measure yet hinted at in unofficial Kuomintang circles is the possibility of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek launching a punitive expedition against the Communist forces "obstructing the reestablishment of the Central Government's authority and economic recovery of the North Yangtze provinces."—Reuter.

GORED BY A RHINO

Dar es Salaam, Aug. 21. A British Medical Research Field Officer, Mr. V. A. Findlay, veteran of two world wars, who was carrying out a research in the tse-tse (sleeping sickness) belt near Shinyanga Lake, died in a hospital today after being gored in the chest by a rhinoceros. The tse-tse fly, which transmits a parasite causing sleeping sickness, renders uninhabitable large areas of otherwise fertile land in Tanganyika.—Reuter.

Panic Over Communist Declaration

(By Russell Brines)

Tokyo, Aug. 21.

General Douglas MacArthur, Allied Supreme Commander in Japan, suffered his first major reversal from the Four Power Council when members—obviously on governmental instructions—refused to approve his proposal for enlarging the Organization's advisory scope to include informal participation of seven other Allied countries.

The exact reasons for the proposal and its refusal remains obscured by international politics which has featured the Council throughout its sometimes stormy career of generally inconclusive debates.

Some observers believe that General MacArthur's main purpose in proposing, through the American chairman, to enlarge participation in the Council was to obtain more public support for what appears to be a constant effort to silence or discourage the Soviet delegate. While other Allied representatives, under this scheme, would not participate in policy matters, their remarks would be made public.

The British and Chinese delegates have several times joined the Russian representative (Lieutenant-General Kuzma Derevyanko) in opposing American proposals or suggestions.

Authoritative sources said there is some feeling among the delegates that MacArthur is attempting to smash the Council and their only recourse is to present a united front against the American representative in order to save the Council. On that basis, today's rejection of the enlargement functions becomes understandable.

It is known that MacArthur opposed the formation of the Council originally. At its inaugural meeting on April 5, he strongly told the delegates that their function was solely advisory and warned them against attempts to exceed their functions.

In the beginning, several Russian proposals were defeated with the British and Chinese joining the Americans. One of them was the Soviet move to bar the press from all meetings.

Verbal Clashes

Sessions have been marked by repeated Russian-American verbal clashes and both sides have accused the other of using the Council as a propaganda sound-board.

In effect, the Council's most evident accomplishment has been to air international ideas—and some grievances—for Japan and the world.

Its most perceptible contribution to the occupation was an outlined agrarian reform programme, presented by W. MacMahon Ball, the British Commonwealth member, which subsequently became the basis for the Japanese Government bill recently introduced into the Diet with MacArthur's public approval.—Associated Press.

"SIAM RAILWAY" COMPENSATION

London, Aug. 21.

Compensation for building materials looted from Malaya, the Netherlands East Indies and Siam by the Japanese for building the notorious Moulmein to Bangkok railway will be paid to those from whom the materials had been taken out of Japanese reparations, a Foreign Office spokesman said in London today.

This factor is the chief stumbling block of the discussions now taking place between British and Siamese officials regarding the purchase by Siam of the railway. The spokesman added: "The loot used for the construction of the railway will have to be returned, which makes the fixing of a price very difficult."

The spokesman said that the railway had been badly smashed up by Allied bombers but when it is repaired, it could become an important commercial line connecting up the railways of China, Indo-China and Siam with those of Burma.

Known as the "railway of death," the line was built at breakneck speed by thousands of Allied prisoners-of-war and local forced labour under merciless Japanese taskmasters and it is estimated that its construction cost the life of one worker per sleeper.—Reuter.

NO CHANGE IN N.E.I. POLICY

Batavia, Aug. 21.

Dr. Hubertus van Mook, Lieutenant-Governor General of the Netherlands East Indies, stated today that he expected all British troops throughout the East Indies would be replaced by Dutch troops before the year is out.

Dr. van Mook said that it was intended that British troops should stay indefinitely in the East Indies.

Negotiations with the Indonesian 'republic' might be resumed in the near future, said Dr. van Mook, who was addressing a press conference.

There was to be no change in the Dutch policy and no intention to restore anything resembling the "colonial system."

"It is the Dutch Government's intention to promote this country as quickly as possible as a self-governing nation," he added.

But it is felt that this can be done most effectively by starting within the framework of the kingdom," he said.—Reuter.

France's "Mission" In Indo-China

Hanoi, Aug. 21.

France's acting Commissioner for the north Indo-China state of Tonkin, Col Crepin, has defended recent French action against Chinese troops in the Tien Yen region of north-east Tonkin as "necessary because France has a mission to protect the Indo-Chinese borders."

Official French sources alleged Chinese army troops had crossed the Indochina border in operations against 800 Chinese Communist fugitives from Kwangtung and ambushed a French column in the area.

Crepin said French action had been necessary because the army of the Annamite Republic of Viet Nam was not able to protect the border in the Tien Yen region.

Reviewing what he termed a "dangerous" economic situation in Tonkin requiring an "urgent solution," Crepin said, one "very important factor," the revival of commerce with China, had been handicapped by heavy taxes by the Viet Nam government. He termed these taxes illegal.

"Tonkin's economy is in great danger because of losses sustained during the war and from looting, and also because of the handicaps of the present situation," Crepin declared.

Co-operation

"Above all, sincere Franco-Viet Nam co-operation is necessary," he continued. "France will do its best in the restoration of the Vietnamese economy, which needs great help from France, but there must be an abolition of the climate of defiance which now exists against France."

Crepin denied a Vietnamese assertion that France was using a policy of force against

NOTICE

On the 31st August, 1946 all existing licences for Motor Junks will expire and new licences will be issued as from the 1st September, 1946.

1. All mechanically propelled junks engaged in trading to places outside the Harbour Limits to be licensed as "Motor Trading Junks" and to pay the prescribed fees as for a Trading Junk.

2. All mechanically propelled junks engaged in fishing to be licensed as "Motor Fishing Junks" and pay the prescribed fees as for a Fishing Junk.

3. All mechanically propelled junks engaged solely within the Harbour Limits to be licensed as "Motor Lighters" or "Motor Cargo Boats" and pay the prescribed fees as for Cargo Boats, Lighters, etc.

In the examination of a vessel prior to the issue of a licence, the owner shall not forth in the application the following particulars—

1. That the vessel is of the real "Junk Type."

2. That the engine room is suitably partitioned off from the remainder of the holds, and that the engine room bulkheads are lined with metal sheetings or asbestos.

3. That the engine room is clean.

4. That the vessel is properly fitted with navigation lights and the means for making sound signals.

5. That suitable and sufficient life-saving and fire fighting equipment is provided (i.e. Two two-gallon Fire Extinguishers of an approved type, two boxes of sand with scoops).

6. That the engineer and master are in possession of the appropriate certificates, issued under Reg. 29 of Table "E."

Motor Junks will not be allowed to engage in towing, except in an emergency.

Vessels fitted with petrol or kerosene engines will not be permitted to carry passengers.

Only Diesel type engines will be allowed to be installed in Fishing Junks.

If a vessel is not of the approved "Junk" type, the owner will apply to the Principal Surveyor of Ships for a survey as a motor vessel under Table "E", Ord. 10 of 1899.

There are a number of vessels at present plying within the Harbour Limits of an unsuitable type and during the re-licensing next month, it is proposed to eliminate these craft.

The vessels will be distinguished by the alphabetical letters painted on the bow and stern, viz:—

M...T Motor Trading Junk.
M...F " " Fishing " "
M...V " " Lighters and Cargo Boats.

Calcutta Death Roll Estimated At 2,000

Calcutta, Aug. 21.

A Government of Bengal spokesman stated today that the "general situation in Calcutta continues to improve and there are definite signs of returning confidence in all parts of the city, although a considerable amount of apprehension still remains."

The spokesman added that military personnel had been increased and troops were doing their best to restore normal conditions. The curfew would continue in force as long as the emergency existed.

With the return of confidence a number of buses and taxis were plying and private cars could also be seen on the road. Trams, however, had not reappeared as leaders of the Tramway Workers Union declined to allow their members to resume work, except on certain conditions, one being that the leaders of political parties should give the assurance there would be no further riots.

The Surgeon-General for the Bengal Government stated at a press conference today that 2,031 persons had been admitted to various hospitals in the city up to yesterday.

Meanwhile, Calcutta's food ration has been cut by half to meet the emergency created by five days of riots, arson and looting, a Food Department official announced.

Four people were stabbed in a central Calcutta street, and rescue parties reported a few cases of looting and arson in north Calcutta.

Curfew, a ban of the carrying of arms and a ban on assemblies of more than five people, were imposed on Gaya, ancient Buddhist centre 260 miles north of Calcutta, tonight after stabbing affrays, in which one person was killed and four were injured.

Troops in Calcutta have been reinforced and all other emergency measures are continuing.

A "peace mission" led by Mr. Huseyn Suhrawardy, Moslem Premier of Bengal, and Mr. Sarat Chandra Bose, leading member of the Congress Party, toured the riot areas today, appealing to the people to keep communal peace and "forget the happenings of the last five days."

Army lorries during daylight took 16,000 people to safety areas. An official of the Bengal Government said that 444 deaths had been recorded by all Calcutta hospitals, with the exception of one hospital of 120 beds. Apart from these, the total of bodies found in the streets was not yet known. Unofficial reports of deaths in Calcutta's week-end of flaming riots are as high as 2,000.—Reuter.

Office spokesman stated this morning.—Reuter.

"We were set more tricks than I'd like to admit and East rubbed his hands gleefully. Granted that we each (North and South) bid badly, who was more to blame?"

"That's a weird question in view of the number of mistakes made, but we think that South was more to blame. The opening spade bid was sound enough, but North shouldn't have considered a no-trump response. It's very difficult to construct a hand in which you should respond in no-trump when void of your partner's suit. If the hand is worth a response at all, the response should be in one of your own suits. In this case, North should have bid two clubs."

But after North had bid one no-trump, South should not have bid three spades. Neither his hand nor the spade suit itself was strong enough for so forceful a bid. Either two spades or two clubs would have been far better.

North probably was doing the safest thing when he passed three spades; it was too dangerous to find a new suit at that stage. And his attempt to scramble to safety at three no-trump cannot be criticised too severely. But South was asking for trouble when he went back to four spades when he had been doubled at three spades. Obviously North was short of spades and East was doubling on spade strength. Four clubs would have been a better try for safety, and would have led to a sound contract. Curiously enough, neither partner bid clubs—the only suit in which there was a good play for game.

British And U.S. Protests To Poland

Washington, Aug. 21.

The United States has sent a sharp note to Poland protesting to "oppressive acts which have prevented normal democratic and political activity."

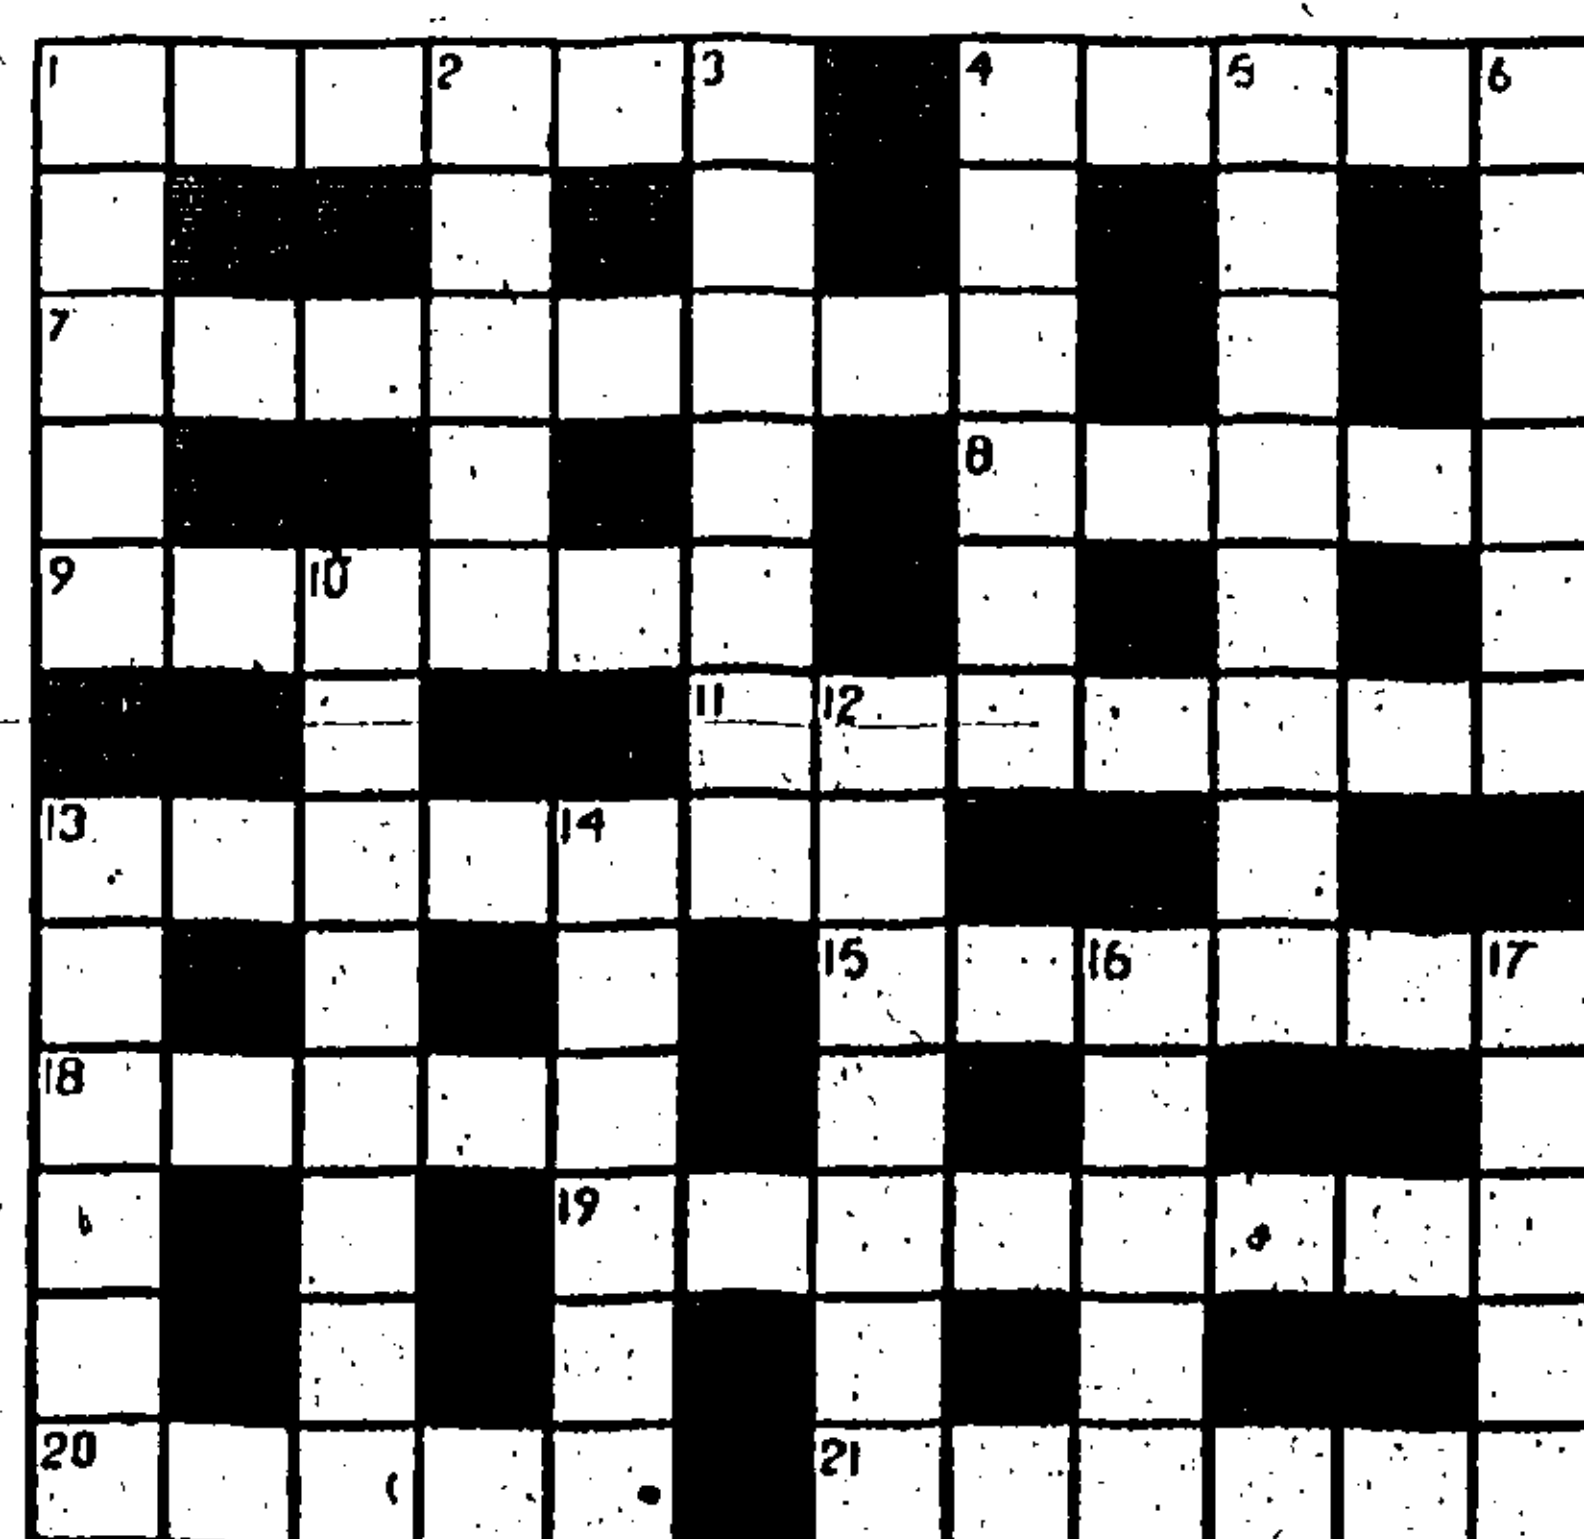

Under-Secretary of State Acheson today disclosed the text of the communication delivered to the Warsaw Government, charging the Government with permitting "persecution" of the Polish Labour Party "by arrests, censorship restrictions, administrative interference and other oppressive acts."

It called upon the Polish Government to provide four "essential" guarantees which would permit normal political freedom prior to the national elections which are scheduled for early November.

In London, the Government disclosed a British note sent to Poland asking that "all democratic and anti-Nazi parties" be allowed free participation in the Polish elections. The British note mentioned particularly reported arrests of "many leading supporters of the Polish Peasant Party."—Associated Press.

Chinese Dollar Move No Surprise

London, Aug. 21. Yesterday's substantial devaluation in the Chinese dollar caused no surprise to Eastern bankers here, the Times city editor commented. The open market rate of CN$3,600 per US$1 implies that the new exchange rate can have no finality as long as there is an increase of uncovered Government expenditure and the internal strife continues.

Negroes Return To U.S. To Fight Another "War"

PAGING SGT. LIM

The Canadian War Crimes Investigation Department is anxious to learn the whereabouts of former Staff Sergeant Hugh Peter Lim, R.E., whose previous address was c/o Mrs. L. Lim, 29 Tai Po Road, Kowloon.

The Department believes that Sergeant Lim may be able to help them in their investigation into the death of Japanese hands in Japan of D. Chaboyer, of the Winnipeg Grenadiers, killed by the Japanese in September, 1943.

Supremo To Get New Job

London, Aug. 21.
Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Supreme Allied Commander in South-East Asia, may soon assume a new naval appointment, an official spokesman said here today.

Mountbatten will visit Sweden and Norway early next month for a holiday, but, according to the spokesman, "will not be returning to Singapore."

At present Lord Louis is engaged in writing his version of the war in South-East Asia.

A member of his staff told Reuter today that the Admiral would stay in Sweden with his sister, the Crown Princess, visit his cousin Prince Olaf in Norway and return to England on Sept. 23.—Reuter.

Impropaganda In Soviet Zone

Berlin, Aug. 21.
A formal British protest against anti-British articles which have appeared recently in the Russian-controlled newspapers of the Soviet sector of Berlin, was made today at a meeting of the Allied Deputy Commanders.

The British Deputy Commander referred to several articles, particularly in the Russian-controlled "Neptische Rundschau" which he said had bitterly attacked the press in the British sector.

He complained that the Soviet sector newspapers had accused the press in the British sector of "following Goebbels' line of propaganda" concerning the story of the "kidnapped" German children in the Russian occupation zone.

The articles also attacked the British press.

The British Deputy Commander said that he considered an article of such a type should not appear but added that he did not wish to discuss the matter further.

The Russians' reply at the meeting was that the articles were merely published "in defence," following the publication in the British sector of the allegation concerning the "kidnapped" children.—Reuter.

Leprosy His Opponent

London, Aug. 21.
Experiments in curing leprosy are being conducted with some success by Professor Filatov of the Ukrainian Academy of Science, the Moscow Radio reported tonight.

The experiments are made by the grafting of new tissue and injecting "bio-stimulators" (organic chemical activators which operate similarly to vitamins in promoting health).

During such a treatment definite improvement in leprosy cases has been observed but it is too early to say definitely that a complete cure has been found, the radio said.

Professor Filatov is over 70. A few years ago he transplanted cornea taken from a corpse to the eye of a patient suffering from leucoma of the cornea and effected a cure.

"Leprosy is my opponent" declared the professor, who is planning a new research in the fight against the disease, the radio added.—Reuter.

London, Aug. 21.
Scores of thousands of Negro soldiers are now returning to their homes in the southern states of America to fight another war against racial intolerance and for equality of social and economic status, says the New York correspondent of the "News Chronicle" in a cable to his paper published today.

"Many of them" the correspondent says, "treated as equals abroad, are determined never again to accept the inferiority which was their lot before they left these shores to ensure that the Government of the people for the people should not perish on earth. They have the sympathetic and energetic support of millions of white Americans who know that the 'colour problem' can only be solved by the admission of Negroes to the rights and privileges of full citizenship of America, in fact as well as in name."

"Champions of race equality," from Mrs. Roosevelt to Frank Sinatra, are making it increasingly difficult for Negro baiters to justify their actions.

"I am told by the National Association for the Advancement of Coloured People, a reputed body not given to exaggeration, that today in the South, scores of thousands of Negro veterans do not wear their honourable discharge veteran's badges because they are an incitement to anti-Negro elements to show the returning Negroes where they stand."

"This attitude is: 'Do not forget your are back home now and you are exactly where you were when you started. Better put that equality stuff you learnt in England right out of your head, then we will all get along fine.'"

"If a Negro veteran stands on his dignity, he is likely to be the immediate target for a lesson in 'good night behaviour'."

Case Of Isaac Woodward

"This is what happened to Isaac Woodward of New York, who, for daring to answer back a rude bus driver, had his eyes punched out by a policeman's truncheon in North Carolina only a few hours after his discharge from the army."

The correspondent says that a New York eve specialist certified that Woodward is permanently blind.

He says that an affidavit given by Woodward to his lawyer, states that the trouble started when Woodward asked the driver of the bus to wait while he found a lavatory. The driver eventually agreed.

Blind

At the text town the driver fetched a policeman and complained that Woodward was disturbing the bus, although no one else complained. The policeman began beating him about the head with his truncheon and at the police station he was knocked unconscious and punched in the eyes with a truncheon. When he awoke in a cell, he was blind.

After he had explained his case in court, the judge merely said: "We don't have that kind of stuff down here," and he was fined $50 or thirty days in a road gang.

The correspondent adds: "Such a story creates fierce indignation here even in the South, where there are many who feel keenly the shame of racial persecution and bitterly resent their identification with it. The story of Isaac Woodward is one which concerns the good heart and conscience of the world. Its publication in the 'News Chronicle' will do good because the decent people of America need the support of all other decent people in the world in their fight against such inhumanity at home."—Reuter.

DESERTED FROM "PEMBROKE"

Chatham, Aug. 21.
Sentence of six months' detention was passed by Naval Court Martial at Chatham today on Maurice Myers, 23, able-bodied seaman of Aughton Crescent, Sheffield, who pleaded guilty to deserting his ship.

He was said to have failed to return to H.M.S. Pembroke from leave on Jan. 25, and to have been arrested at Sheffield on July 28.

It was stated that Myers had said that his brother in the R.A.F. died on active service in May, 1944. His father had died three months later through shock, two other brothers were aboard on active service, and his mother live alone and was in poor health.—Reuter.

Albania Asks For Justice

Paris, Aug. 21.
General Enver Hodja, Prime Minister of Albania, claimed "reparation and justice" from Italy when he addressed a full session of the Paris Conference here today.

Albania was the first victim of Italian aggression against which she fought alone in face of overwhelming superiority, he said. She never ceased resisting and Albanian troops, recruited by the Italians to fight against Greece, had mutilated and gone over to the side of the Allies.

He emphatically denied the Greek statement that Albania had attacked her, saying that "a gigantic gap" existed between the Albanian people and quislings. General Hodja claimed the right for his country to sit at the conference table equally with the other 21 nations there and to sign the Italian peace treaty.

Albania, first of the six non-member states to present their views to the conference, was followed by Mexico, whose delegate said that he would claim compensation only for actual losses.

Peace with Italy "must be based on juridical and moral principles which would imply positive progress in international law," he declared.

The British Foreign Minister, Mr. Ernest Bevin, presided—his first appearance at the conference.

General Jan Smuts, South African Prime Minister, also attended, the first statesman to take part in this conference as well as the peace conference after the 1914-1918 war.—Reuter.

SOVIET PLANE TOOK PU-YI

(By Duane Hennessy)

Tokyo, Aug. 21.
A Russian plane swooped down on Mukden Airfield to seize Henry Pu-yi from the Japanese as they were flying him to Japan by "force" at the war's end, the former Manchurian puppet Emperor revealed for the first time at the War Crimes Trials here today.

Never before has it been told officially how he had passed into Russian hands from those of the Japanese who had held him on his shaky throne for more than a decade.

Until the Russians produced him for the trial, it was the deepest mystery of the little man, who vanished almost a year ago, was still alive.

Pu-yi, who gave his long story without interruption, said that at first he travelled to Mukden under guard in a small aeroplane and there halted to change to a larger craft.

"Before we took off, a Soviet plane arrived. Then I was asked to stay behind in Soviet Russia," he declared.

Earlier during the trial, defence attorney Major Ben Bruce Blakeney introduced a large 2 ft. by 3 ft. letter on yellow silk bearing a vermilion seal, which (he contended) was sent by Pu-yi to an unidentified Japanese high official in 1931, expressing willingness to take over.

AUSTRALIAN IMMIGRATION

Canberra, Aug. 21.
The conference of the prime ministers of the Australian states today agreed to the Commonwealth proposals for admission into Australia of 70,000 immigrants each year.

Child emigration will be approved under the auspices of a voluntary emigration organization.

NOTES TO WARSAW

London, Aug. 21.
The United States and British Governments in notes handed to the Polish Government in Warsaw have demanded that all democratic parties in Poland must be free to engage in political activity before Poland's November elections.

The United States note accused the Polish Government of "oppressive acts" which have prevented postwar democratic political activity in Poland, a Reuter cable from Washington reported.—Reuter.

"Active Fascists"

Moscow, Aug. 21.
The Tass Agency today carried a despatch from its special correspondent attending the Paris Conference saying that "active Fascists" were among those at present with the Italian delegation.

"One of these," he said, "is the journalist correspondent of the paper Il Globo, which collaborated with the Germans. He is now called upon to inform Italian public opinion on the work of the Peace Conference."

Charging the leader of Italy's technical delegation with "fawning on Western powers," the despatch said that members of his delegation were chosen from heavy industrialists of the north and professional diplomats who served under Fascism.

"The arguments of Signor de Gasperi would have had greater weight if Italy, which he leads, were as 'new' as he tries to make out," said the message.—Reuter.

"Aries" Bid To Break Record

London, Aug. 21.
The R.A.F.'s globe flying Lancaster aircraft "Aries," which has already flown over a quarter of a million miles on record-breaking flights, took off again this afternoon to try to break the existing London to New Zealand record of 90-3/4 hours held by a British Transport Command Lancastrian plane.

Air Commodore Dalry, who is in charge of the flight, said: "We hope to complete the flight in 58 hours. We shall land at Bombay, stay for two hours and then Darwin is our next scheduled stop."

In 1944, the "Aries" flew round the world but her most famous flight was over the magnetic pole in 1945. This had never been done before. Her present trip is to demonstrate the use of the latest navigational facilities in flying.—Reuter.

Indian Team Won Respect And Admiration

(By Learie Constantine, Reuters Special Correspondent)

London, Aug. 20.
Rain, which has dogged the footsteps of the Indian tourists ever since they arrived in England—it was pouring with rain when their captain, Pataudi, got out of his aircraft on reaching England—turned the final Test into a draw, no play being possible on the final day today.

Thus, the tourists lose the rubber with one defeat and two drawn games, and the day has still to dawn when they inflict the first defeat on England.

The Test series from the Indian point of view may be summed up as follows:

The first Test at Lords an unsatisfactory defeat. The second Test at Old Trafford a triumphant draw and the third Test at the Oval an honourable draw.

This result on wickets that from the Indian viewpoint could hardly have been less ideal can be considered highly satisfactory.

Even had play been possible today, the match would probably have ended in a draw although there was a chance of an Indian victory, remote though it was, and the tourists might at least have gained a first innings lead.

No Bitterness

Here is what the rival captains said to me: Pataudi—"My team and I have had three most enjoyable games against England, and if I have any regrets it is only that the weather was so unkind to us. The Test series was quite unique in that the two rival captains were on very friendly terms, and hence there was none of that bitter struggle which has so often taken place in international cricket."

Walter Hammond said: "I have enjoyed every minute of the three Test matches against India. The fact that India was captained by the Nawab of Pataudi, an old friend and colleague of mine, added a personal touch to the matches and gave them friendly rivalry without robbing them of keenness."

I am positive the Indian cricketers have done a wonderful work as ambassadors and if they have not won the Tests, they have indeed won the admiration and respect of all.

From the financial point of view, and that aspect must always come into the picture the tour has also been a success. But only because the Indians with their attractive play made it so. The weather clerk did everything he could to wreck it.

Almost Funny

During the whole tour the Indians have had only ten days without any rain, and so unlucky have they been that they have invariably moved into the rain belt every time they played.

It was almost funny if you could see the humour of it that while we were getting drenched at the Oval on Saturday, the sun was shining in "watery" Manchester. When rain cut play in the second Test, the Oval was bathed in brilliant sunshine!

CHURCHILLS OFF TO SWITZERLAND

London, Aug. 21.
Mr. Winston Churchill, leader of the Conservative Party, accompanied by Mrs. Churchill, Miss Mary Churchill and Dr. and Mrs. Duncan Sandys, his son-in-law and daughter, will leave here on Friday for a long holiday in Switzerland.

The party will stay in a beautiful 17th century villa of Italian design, placed at Mr. Churchill's disposal by his Swiss friends near Bursinel on Lake Geneva.

Mr. Churchill is expected to spend a great deal of his time painting for which the island surroundings are ideal.

On Sept. 16 he will leave for Bern where he will stay at the Chateau de Lohr for two or three days as the guest of the Swiss Government before he returns to London.—Reuter.

The conference was opposed to the principle of large scale group settlement of foreigners.—Reuter.

And yet, without the Indians will come out of the tour on the right side, but of course they would have done far better with fine weather.

It has been decided that the team will travel home by boat about Sept. 20—in a month's time. The skipper, Pataudi, will fly home as soon as the last match is played on Sept. 13.

Correct Tactics

But to return to the final Test, I have heard some criticism that India did not force the pace during the early part of the innings in an effort to bring the game to a decision especially as, to use a bridge term, they were not vulnerable in the rubber.

From the point of view of a theorist this is all right, but conditions must be taken into account, and as far as I could see India was never in a position to dictate. The pitch was too soft to encourage stroke play, and with only 90 minutes play on the first day to have attempted a "blitzkrieg" would have been foolish to put it mildly.

In any case, where are the bowlers in the India team who could have prepared the ground and then carried the offensive right into the tail end of the England side?

Pataudi was right and any different tactics would have been courting disaster.

England Superior

Merchant, as I have always said, is one of the greatest players in the world. His innings of 128 in this Test gave him the right to stand as the highest scorer among Indians against England.

England's batting was sedate and correct in the early phases, but both Washbrook and Hutton played like men rather than out of form.

The Test series went to the better team. It went to the side that seized its opportunities and whose out-crickets was that little bit superior.—Reuter.

Yorks Improve Position

London, Aug. 20.
Results of county cricket matches which ended today were:

At Dover: Kent 242 drew with Glamorgan 132 and, following on owing to the two-day rule, 149 for two (E. Davies 72 not out, W. E. Jones 55 not out).

At Cheltenham: Worcester-shire 144 and 70 for no wickets (Singleton 54 not out) beat Gloucestershire 139 and 74 by ten wickets.

At Leicester: Essex 360 (Taylor 66 not out, Walsh five for 145) drew with Leicestershire 380 and 139 for seven.

At Nottingham: Nottingham-shire 165 (Gladwin five for 58) and 11 for one drew with Derbyshire 529 for nine declared.

At Birmingham: Warwick-shire 226 and 241 (Dollery 57, Cranmer 59) drew with Northamptonshire 332 and 14 for no wickets.

At Manchester: Hampshire 188 and 174 for five declared (Holt 51) beat Lancashire 151 and 182 (Knott six for 67) by 29 runs.

At Sheffield: Yorkshire 226 and 202 for eight declared (Sellers 53, Harrington six for 57) drew with Middlesex 169 and 148 for eight (Booth four for 24).—Reuter.

White Jacket "Mystery"

London, Aug. 21.
The mystery of the relapse in the betting market last night of the St. Leger horse, White Jacket, was explained today with the statement by the trainer, Matt Peacock, that the colt had been suffering from a sore heel.

"The horse worked this morning and I think he is all right," added the trainer. "If others think he is wrong, they know more about the horse than I do." he said.

Sore heel is a painful but not serious condition, which is often caused by early morning dew in the grass.

Following this statement, one of the biggest bookmakers in Britain said he intended to be cautious about laying White Jacket until he knew something more definite. "I shall not lay the call over price of 100 to seven, although I have had several enquiries," he said.

"My best offer at present is 100 to eight to small sums only," —Reuter.

HOME SOCCER

London, Aug. 21.
In the Scottish Football League, Division A, Queen of the South today beat St. Mirren by two goals to one.

In the Supplementary Cup of League Division B, Dundee United drew with Stenhousemuir each side scoring two goals.

Reg Lewis, who scored six goals in the Arsenal's public trial last Saturday, replaces Lawton as England's centre forward against Scotland at Manchester on Aug. 24. Lawton is under treatment for a groin injury.—Reuter.

U.S. BASEBALL

New York, Aug. 21.
The American League world series bound Boston Red Sox split a doubleheader with St. Louis on Tuesday, taking the opener 5 to 1 but losing the nightcap to the Browns, 5 to 4.

In the National League Chicago defeated Philadelphia twice, winning the first game 5 to 2 and the second game 10 2-2.—Associated Press.
